

Talb. Dare yee come forth, and meet vs in the field?
Pucell. Belike your Lordship takes vs then for fooles,
 To try if that our owne be ours, or no.

Talb. I speake not to that rayling Hecate,
 But vnto thee Alanson, and the rest.
 Will ye, like Souldiors, come and fight it out?

Alansf. Seignior no.

Talb. Seignior hang: base Muleters of France,
 Like Pefant foot-Boyes doe they keepe the Walls,
 And dare not take vp Armes, like Gentlemen.

Pucell. Away Capitaines, let's get vs from the Walls,
 For Talbot means no goodnesse by his Lookes.
 God b'uy my Lord, we came but to tell you
 That wee are here. Exeunt from the Walls.

Talb. And there will we be too, ere it be long,
 Or else reproach be Talbots greatest fame.
 Vow Burgonie, by honor of thy House,
 Prickt on by publike Wrongs sustain'd in France,
 Either to get the Towne againe, or dye.
 And I, as sure as English Henry liues,
 And as his Father here was Conqueror;
 As sure as in this late betrayed Towne,
 Great Cordelions Heart was buried;
 So sure I sweare, to get the Towne, or dye.

Burg. My Vowes are equall partners with thy Vowes.

Talb. But ere we goe, regard this dying Prince,
 The valiant Duke of Bedford: Come my Lord,
 We will bestow you in some better place,
 Fitter for sicknesse, and for crasse age.

Bedf. Lord Talbot, doe not so dishonour me:
 Here will I sit, before the Walls of Roan,
 And will be partner of your weale or woe.

Burg. Courageous Bedford, let vs now perswade you.
Bedf. Not to be gone from hence: for once I read,
 That stout Pendragon, in his Litter sick,
 Came to the field, and vanquished his foes.
 Me thinkes I should reuiue the Souldiors hearts,
 Because I euer found them as my selfe.

Talb. Vndaunted spirit in a dying breast,
 Then be it so: Heaueus keepe old Bedford safe.
 And now no more adoe, braue Burgonie,
 But gather we our Forces out of hand,
 And let vpon our boasting Enemie. Exit.

*An Alarm: Excursions. Enter Sir John
 Falstaffe, and a Capitaine.*

Capt. Whither away Sir John Falstaffe, in such haste?
Falstf. Whither away? to saue my selfe by flight,
 We are like to haue the ouerthrow againe.

Capt. What? will you flye, and leaue Lord Talbot?
Falstf. I, all the Talbots in the World, to saue my life.

Capt. Cowardly Knight, ill fortune follow thee. Exit.

Retreat: Excursions. Pucell, Alanson, and Charles flye.

Bedf. Now quiet Soule, depart when Heauen please,
 For I haue seene our Enemies ouerthrow.
 What is the trust or strength of foolish man?
 They that of late were daring with their scoffes,
 Are glad and faine by flight to saue themselues.
Bedford dyes, and is carryed in by two in his Chaire.

An Alarm. Enter Talbot, Burgonie, and the rest.

Talb. Lost, and recouered in a day againe,
 This is a double Honor, Burgonie:
 Yet Heaueus haue glory for this Victorie.

Burg. Warlike and Martiall Talbot, Burgonie
 Inshrines thee in his heart, and there erects
 Thy noble Deeds, as Valors Monuments.

Talb. Thanks gentle Duke: but where is Pucell now?

I thinke her old Familiar is asleepe.
 Now where's the Bastards braues, and Charles his glikes?
 What all amott? Roan hangs her head for griefe,
 That such a valiant Company are fled,
 Now will we take some order in the Towne,
 Placing therein some expert Officers,
 And then depart to Paris, to the King,
 For there young Henry with his Nobles lye.

Burg. What wills Lord Talbot, pleaseth Burgonie.

Talb. But yet before we goe, let's not forget
 The Noble Duke of Bedford, late deceas'd,
 But see his Exequies fulfill'd in Roan.
 A brauer Souldier neuer couched Launce,
 A gentler Heart did neuer sway in Court,
 But Kings and mightiest Potentates must die,
 For that's the end of humane miserie. Exeunt.

Scena Tertia.

Enter Charles, Bastard, Alanson, Pucell.

Pucell. Dismay not (Princes) at this accident,
 Nor grieue that Roan is so recovered:
 Care is no cure, but rather corrosiue,
 For things that are not to be remedy'd.
 Let frantike Talbot triumph for a while,
 And like a Peacock sweepe along his tayle,
 Wee'll pull his Plumes, and take away his Trayne,
 If Dolphin and the rest will be but rul'd.

Charles. We haue been guided by thee hitherto,
 And of thy Cunning had no diffidence,
 One sudden Foyle shall neuer breed distrust.

Bastard. Search out thy wit for secret pollicies,
 And we will make thee famous through the World.

Alansf. Wee'll set thy Statue in some holy place,
 And haue thee reuerenc'd like a blessed Saint.

Pucell. Then thus it must be, this doth Isaue deuise:
 By faire perswasions, mixt with sugred words,
 We will entice the Duke of Burgonie.

To leaue the Talbot, and to follow vs.
Charles. I marry Sweeting, if we could doe that,
 France were no place for Henries Warriors,
 Nor should that Nation boast it so with vs,
 But be extirped from our Prouinces.

Alansf. For euer should they be expuls'd from France,
 And not haue Title of an Earledome here.

Pucell. Your Honors shall perceiue how I will worke,
 To bring this matter to the wished end.

Drumme sounds a farte off.
 Hearke, by the sound of Drumme you may perceiue
 Their Powers are marching vnto Paris-ward.

Here sound an English March.
 There goes the Talbot, with his Colours spread,
 And all the Troupes of English after him. French

French March.

Now in the Rereward comes the Duke and his:
 Fortune in fauor makes him lagge behinde.
 Summon a Parley, we will talke with him.

Trumpets sound a Parley.

Charles. A Parley with the Duke of Burgonie.

Burg. Who craues a Parley with the Burgonie?

Pucell. The Princely Charles of France, thy Countrey-

man. Burg. What say'st thou Charles? for I am marching hence. Charles. Speake Pucell, and enchaunt him with thy words. Pucell. Braue Burgonie, vndoubted hope of France,

Stay, let thy humble Hand-maid speake to thee.

Burg. Speake on, but be not ouer-redious.

Pucell. Looke on thy Countrey, look on fertile France,

And see the Cities and the Townes defac't,

By wasting Ruine of the cruell Foe,
 As looke the Mother on her lowly Babe,
 When Death doth close his tender-dying Eyes,

See, see the pining Maladie of France:
 Behold the Wounds, the most vnaturall Wounds,
 Which thou thy selfe hast giuen her wofull Brest.

Oh turne thy edged Sword another way,
 Strike those that hurt, and hurt not those that helpe:
 One drop of Blood drawne from thy Countreys Bosome,
 Should grieue thee more then streames of forraigne gore.

Returne thee therefore with a flood of Teares,
 And wash away thy Countreys stayned Spots.

Burg. Either the hath bewitcht me with her words,
 Or Nature makes me suddenly relent.

Pucell. Besides, all French and France exclaimes on thee,
 Doubting thy Birth and lawfull Progenie.

Who ioynt thou with, but with a Lordly Nation,
 That will not trust thee, but for profits sake?

When Talbot hath set footing once in France,
 And fashio'd thee that Instrument of Ill,

Who then, but English Henry, will be Lord,
 And thou be thrust out, like a Fugitiue?

Call we to minde, and marke but this for prooffe:
 Was not the Duke of Orleans thy Foe?

And was he not in England Prisoner?
 But when they heard he was thine Enemie,

They set him free, without his Ransome pay'd,
 In sight of Burgonie and all his friends.

See then, thou fight'st against thy Countreymen,
 And ioynt with them will be thy slaughter-men.

Come, come, returne; returne thou wandering Lord,
Charles and the rest will take thee in their armes.

Burg. I am vanquished:
 These haughtie wordes of hers

Haue batt'rd me like roaring Cannon-shot,
 And made me almost yeeld vpon my knees.

Forgiue me Countrey, and sweet Countreymen:
 And Lords accept this heartie kind embrace.

My Forces and my Power of Men are yours.
 So farewell Talbot, Ile no longer trust thee.

Pucell. Done like a Frenchman: turne and turne a-gaince. Charles. Welcome braue Duke, thy friendship makes vs fresh. Bastard. And doth beget new Courage in our Breasts.

Alansf. Pucell hath brauely play'd her part in this;

And doth deferue a Coronet of Gold.

Charles. Now let vs on,
 And ioyne our Powers,
 And seeke how we may pre-
